

Future Projects!

Building a Group Picnic Pavilion Field

Picnicking is a very popular activity in Liberty State Park. To accommodate larger groups and provide shelter from the elements we are working with the Park to create a Group Picnic Pavilion Field. The goal is to build two pavilions with fields, restrooms and parking facilities. We will also do a number of beautification projects in the area that will include tree plantings and flower gardens.

Interior Natural Area Restoration

This 251 acre project will create 190 acres of restored natural areas with wildlife viewing trails passing through forest, tall grass and fresh and saltwater habitats. 60 acres of the perimeter will be devoted to passive recreation sites that will include picnic areas and play areas. This is one of the largest urban nature restoration projects in the country. Though much of the money will come from government funds, we wish to build awareness to this project, create interpretive signage that will describe the natural importance of the area, perform planting projects and secure private sector money ($10 Million has already been awarded and over $25 million more is expected to be approved in the next few years).

Restoring the Historic CRRNJ Train Sheds

The historic train sheds are unfortunately crumbling before our eyes. They are the largest "Bush-type" train sheds in the world covering an area over 4 football fields in size. Plans for this architecturally beautiful structure are to restore and open it to the public. Once the sheds are restored, the space under them will be ideal for re-uses such as large special events, train exhibits, and an urban gardening project.

Walk or Run for LSP 2007 will help bring these goals closer to reality !
